Who has given
you this?

It was century upon
a century ago that she led here her flock.

Starved thin and bitten
by cold, she was heavy
with love for her God.

So when her women
despaired, when their
faith shriveled,

She fed of
them her flesh,

so they might live
and nourish the world.

In this place where her bones were buried, hollow and sucked clean of marrow,

Fruit bursts forth without need of plow nor hand nor tool.

It is her continued blessing to us.

It is the sweet and everlasting love of Holy and Humble, our Saint of the Harvest.

In exchange for this grace, we live small and temperate lives.

We take only what is needed for ourselves.

And of ourselves, we give all that we can.

very quick study of west ogwell church in ogwell, devon (you might recognize it if you've seen "the borderlands") the convent in ample is much bigger but i wanted to get a bit of a feel for these 13th century churches.

very rough design for the convent.

i'm trying my best not to make myself crazy making sure everything is laid out, so i tried to focus only on places i know will be significant in the story, or at least places where the location matters.

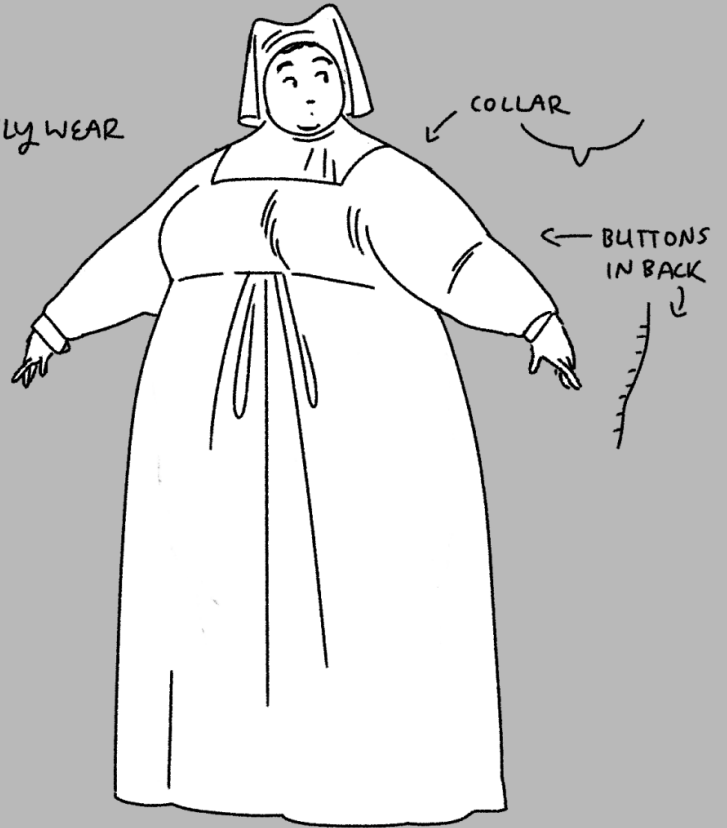

clothing designs for nuns (using sister innocent)
