The absolute laziest dissent I've ever read, by Circuit Judge VanDyke (whom the ADA rated "not qualified" before his 2019 confirmaiton). This is the whole thing:

*screams* Sidney Powell and Lin Wood somehow manage to make things worse in their Wisconsin election lawsuit, filing a blank notice of appearance. You can't make this stuff up.

Latest on efforts by lawyers to track down parents of separated children, in a court filing this afternoon. Nearly 300 children whose parents "are believed to have been" deported following separation.

In Michigan: GOP poll watchers who lost an early attempt to stop Wayne County from certifying election results filed a new motion for a county-specific audit:

<https://assets.documentcloud.org/documents/7333884/11-25-20-Costantino-Motion-for-Audit-Wayne-County.pdf>

Detroit responded today, arguing that's not a thing under MI law:

Sidney Powell filed a new election challenge in Arizona today, repeating (literally, see screenshots below) the conspiracy theories she's raised in cases in GA and MI of widespread, systemic voter fraud: <https://scribd.com/document/486713158/12-2-20-Bowyer-v-Ducey-Complaint>

Sidney Powell came to Georgia she was looking for an election to steal, but is to the law as E. L. James is to smut so that shit went nowhere.

A big loss in the GOP case seeking to invalidate the PA election results (the one where Rep. Mike Kelly is a plaintiff) — the PA Supreme Court has dismissed it outright, finding the challengers waited too long to bring it for it to survive

The Trump campaign has lost again in its Pennsylvania case — the 3rd Circuit rejected its appeal. Judge Stephanos Bibas, a Trump nominee, eviscerates Trump's case from top to bottom: "The Campaign's claims have no merit."

A new conservative majority at the Supreme Court reverses course on Covid restrictions on houses of worship. Before RBG's death, the court approved restrictions by 5-4 votes. Now, also 5-4, court goes the other way, with ACB in majority.
