You create a feather fall effect (as the spell) that applies only to one descent of an item or chain of attached items (such as a cluster of keys on the same ring) you touch during casting, and this magic only lasts for a vertical descent of less than the length of your forearm. This spell is commonly used to drop keys or a dagger silently onto a table or other surface that would otherwise cause a loud landing-impact sound.

Material Component: Pappus, the fluff attached to a dandelion, milkweed, or other "floating" seed.
