Chapter 2 Revival

10 months passed since the incident with Mash and Nexus. The Great School of Magic had changed. Going from a school of learning to being a capitol, governing it's own city. The once grand school building was warped into a palace.

It rivaled the other royal powers, as all magic items across the content came from Mana Oukoku, the name of this new kingdom, and it's leader Nexus.

-X-

On an island far away from the mainlands, it was once nothing but a place trees and grass, rocks and sand. In the ten months he's been there he built a fortress. Stone walls with a gate, inside was a simple looking building, but what it lacked in looks and size, it made up for being bigger on the inside.

Mash had spent all these months building and recreating his lab. He designed the building for him, the core room was filled with darkness with only the magical core he was able to make.

He salvaged magical items that washed up on his shore, and used them to build his core, and after many months it was time to activate it. Once the core was active he'd be able to use it to power his base and use it to it's full capacity.

Not much had changed for him in appearance in the last 10 months. Though he did experiment on himself, he had to continue his research. He reached new found depths in exploring the magical system.

Some would call him mad, but he also needed to make repairs to his body so it killed two birds with one stone. He walked up to the core and placed his hand on it. "Awaken."

The core lit up and the once dark room was filled with light, magical circles scattered along the ceiling walls and floor lit up and the base was powered.

"Now to complete my preparations, it's about time I go back I'm 10 months late for school."

It was Nexus who named his new kingdom. He felt the power of a ruler flowing through his veins. In the past 10 months he increased magical item production and trade. With his skills and power no one could challenge him.

For at the center of his kingdom he had access to the power restricted to only the grand master of the magic school. The cauldron of creation! With it he could make an army as he pleased, of fierce monsters and creatures that would obey his every command.

Over time some doubted him, but they were quickly dealt with. Those who remained didn't dare challenge him, and others became warped to his way of thinking.

Still Nexus wasn't settled with just ruling his own school, or his own kingdom he wanted the entire main land under his control. He was currently making plans to bring the other kings and nobles under his grasp.

He had an assistant, or you could call her his lieutenant. Luli, a purple haired woman, who kept her hair tied up in a bun. She wore glasses and instead of a staff she wielded two magic wands that she stored in her hair. She wore a black fancy dress as per Nexus's orders. She carried around a third magical medium a book of runes.

Nexus was walking to his throne room, when Luli appeared before him. She bowed. "Good Morning sir," she straightened up.

"Good morning, how are things progressing?"

"Everything is going according to plan sir, trade and production are high. The Kingdom to the west is asking for assistance in dealing with a territory dispute.”

“Oh? What kind of help?” he smirked.

“Soldiers sir,” she says and begins to follow him as he passes her.

“Very well tell them they can have some soldiers golems 5,000 gold per soldier.”

“That's five times more than we normally charge for golems, what if the king doesn't pay?”

“Then inform him he can take his chances. Then contact the invaders and offer them the same deal. The side that pays us will have rule over the west.”

“Understood sir.” she shifted her glasses.

They made it to the throne room and just as he sat down, the doors burst open. “Nexus-sama, big news!” a black robed male entered the room.

“What is it? What could be so urgent to barge into my throne room?” he glared and the male quickly bowed, knees and hands on the floor.

“I'm sorry sir, but we detected a great magical signature.” he raised his head off the floor.

“What?” Luli adjusted her glasses at the news.

“It isn't from the main land, it comes from a far off island.”

“A far off island you say, what is the signature?” Nexus asked.

“We don't know sir, it's like nothing we have seen before but it's powerful, and here is the really weird part it's moving sir.”

“Moving?”

“Could it be a war ship?” Luli asked.

“If it is, it is the biggest warship we have ever seen. It's far bigger than any of the magic devices or vehicles we have made.” she took the notes from the mage and began to examine them. Her eyes widened.

“Impossible!” she gasped, reading over the notes again and again.

Nexus chuckled. “So he is alive.” he rose from his throne, taking up his staff.

“Sir?” both the mage and Luli looked to him in surprise.

“It is nothing forget about the source, bring me the coordinates and I will handle this myself.” he headed out of the room followed by Luli.

“Sir, if this power signature is as great as the scans show. Shouldn't we call in your 7 generals, the Divine Pillars.”

“No, I will keep them on stand by, I have big plans for this world and they are the pillars that keep my kingdom standing tall.” he opened the door to a hidden stair case he began moving down towards a hidden room.

Luli followed him, all the way down till they reached it the room housing the cauldron of creation. “Magnificent isn't it, very few have gotten to witness it's majesty.”

“It is breath taking sir.”

“The only cauldron of creation in existence it's power to create life itself surpasses all others. Only I am worthy to wield this great power.” the magic stone in his staff glowed. “Awaken Cauldron and here my call.”

The cauldron bubbled to life, an eerie mist coming from the top billowing out and filling the room. “Now then, with this recipe bring forth a monster of speed and cunning.” a book appeared in the middle of the room, he opened it and found the recipe he needed.

He waved his staff over the words making them glow a golden color, the light left the words and filled the magic stone. “Perfect, now be born and serve your new master.” he launched the light into the cauldron.

Once inside the light changed from gold to blue, to purple, to red, and then white. “Now come forth!” the mist from the room was sucked back into the cauldron and boom!

A new life form shot from the cauldron and landed in the room. It was a werewolf looking creature, a beast man. He was a wolf type beast man, with gray fur, pretty basic. Fluffy ears, long furry muzzle, he had a beautiful coat of fur, that covered his muscled body, strong arms and legs, powerful claws, mighty pecs and rock hard abs, and a fluffy tail. The tip of his cock couldn't be seen hiding within his sheath but his furry balls hung between his legs.

“Greetings, beast man I am Nexus and I am your master.”

“My master?” black eyes stared at Nexus.

“Yes it means you will obey my every command. I have a mission for you.” his staff glowed and a picture of Mash appeared. “I want you to kill this man, bring back his head and his staff.”

'His staff?' Luli thought.

“Kill him why, I do not understand.”

“You were given basic knowledge from the cauldron correct? You should be able to understand the words I say, and be able to fight and even kill.”

“Yes but beast men only kill our enemies, this man is not my enemy.”

“Is that so?” his staff glowed and the beast man was hit with a blast of energy. A collar forming around his neck. “Perhaps I was not clear I am your master, my enemy is your enemy you will use the great speed I have bestowed upon you and kill him. If you defy me I will destroy you am I clear?” His stone glowed and the collar glowed green, radiating pain throughout his body.

“AAAAAHHHHHHHHHHHHH AAAAHHHHHHH” he writhed in agony.

The stone stopped glowing, as did the collar. The beast man panted, he glared at Nexus. “Grrrrr,” he rushed in, claws out only to be met with a barrier around him.

“Fool you cannot harm your master, you see I hold your fate in my hand.” a small bead appeared in his palm. “This bead means I am your master, I control your mind your body, your very soul. Should I break this you will burn until you are nothing but ash.” the bead glowed, and the beast man's eyes glazed over. “Now sit.” he sat down obediently.

The bead stopped glowing, and the wolf beast man regained his senses. “If I kill this man, what will you do to me after?”

“That depends, I can either keep you locked in my dungeon until I need you to kill for me again, or I can set you free.”

“I will do as you command.” he bowed his head.

“Very good, a beast should know his place, now then.” his staff glowed and the beast man was dressed in a suit, black jacket and white undershirt with a matching black tie and black slacks. He was stuffed into tight uncomfortable underwear.

“Master why must I wear this.” he didn't like how the suit was tight, his fur couldn't breathe and he was itching to get out of it.

“Because your naked form disgusts me. Luli prepare a warp spell send him to the coordinates we have.”

“Yes sir,” she opened her book and a purple rune floated out of it. She brought it to the tip of her finger and fired it like a gun.

The rune hit the beast man and consumed him. His body vanished in flash of purple light. “This is great, my perfect world does not need trash like that.” Luli wasn't sure if he was talking about the beast man or the mystery man in the photo.

On the island, Mash felt a sudden presence coming his way. He left his base to greet it, staff in hand. The beast man landed making a small crater on the island. “Well now, a beast man I haven't seen one of your kind in a long time. You do not look well made, no style, no uniqueness, and that suit doesn't fit you at all. You look like Nexus' work.”

The beast man stood up. “Forgive me, I do not want to do this, but I have no choice.” he flexed his claws and the fight began. “Wolf Hunt!”

He moved at great speed, only to be met with a magical barrier. This time he didn't stop he kept clawing at it, keeping his movements going. “So you are just a pawn sent by Nexus. I understand I will fight you, but please tell me your name.”

The beast man stopped, frozen and confused. “I do not have one, Nexus-sama did not bestow one upon me.”

“I see how sad, do you want a name?”

“I...I don't know...I just want to be free. If I bring back your head I have a chance for freedom.” energy flowed from his claws. “Rend!”

This time when he slashed the barrier he ripped it apart. 'I broke it.'

'Yes beast, this is my power, remove your limits and kill my enemy.' His master's voice echoed in his head.

He howled as his mind went blank, focused on releasing his energy. The mind of a man he once held gone, he became a snarling beast with energy erupting from his cells.

'This is bad, creatures born from the cauldron are born from magic, and while have a soul need magic to survive if they use it all up he'll die.' the beast man went wild, going so fast and releasing such energy Mash's barrier. Mash used a technique of his own design, called the Fade. He vanished again and again leaving no trace not even scent. Only to reappear later and have the beast man attack him.

“Nexus you bastard, did you send him just to die.”

“No I sent him to kill you, he won't die so easily, but he's a pawn that can easily be tossed away.” Nexus' voice came from the beast man. A tear rolled down the beast man's face.

“You can save him by dying quickly!”

“You poor soul with no name, I shall give you the freedom you need.”

Claws and teeth bared, he rushed at the mage. “Halt!” he raised his hand and froze the beast in place.

“Restore his mind Nexus, his body is gonna burn at this rate.”

Nexus was not pleased. He glared at the marble in his hand. “Useless pawn, take my power and kill him!”

The beast man's eyes glowed red and his fur stood on end as his power erupted. He broke free of Mash's spell. Slashing and clawing, it was clear he was in full on berserk mode. Steam erupted off his body, his suit ripped apart as he continued to try and attack anything in front of him.

He cried, tears streaming down his face. “Nexus, you will let him go.” All three stones on his staff began to glow, he aimed it at the beast man. A flash of light came, and the beast man was down for the count.

“Useless beast, burn away!” he crushed the marble.

His body began to burn in blue flames. “No please...I don't want to die!”

“Do not worry, nameless one. I promised you freedom, and I always deliver on my promises.” his stones glowed once more.

His magic flowed into the beast man and the flames were diminished and the wolf beast man changed. Gray fur turned blue, with white fur forming on his abs, and under his tail, under his muzzle also gained white fur. Black eyes turned a brilliant emerald. His cock grew bigger, the length poking out of his sheath. He was human in shape, dark purple tip and lighter blue length.

No collar, no clothing he rose up. “You saved me? Why?”

“Because Nexus is a dick. I have no issue with you. You do need a name, how about Luros.” the wolf anthro shivered at the name, his tail wagging happily.

The beast man bowed before him. “Hmm?”

“You saved me, and you freed me from my bonds, and even gave me a name. Please allow me to follow you.” he was honest, he wanted to follow this mage who saved his life.

“No, you have your freedom, go and enjoy it.”

“If I am free, then I can choose who to follow.” he hugged Mash from behind. He growled happily tail wagging. “I wish to serve you, my true master!”

“Very well, come inside.” he was given a loin clothe to wear. He liked that his furry body was exposed to the air. 'Nexus has made his move, it seems I must begin.'

“So master, what are your plans?” Mash smiled.

“Well my furry friend, how do you feel about going on an adventure?” he tapped his staff on the ground. The island rumbled and the wolf anthro dropped to all fours. He gasped, as the island was lifted into the sky.

“A flying island!”

Luli came to Nexus. The broken marble was emitting smoke on the floor. “I take it the beast man failed.” it wasn't a question. She knew by the broken marble it had failed.

“It doesn't matter, my next creation won't be a useless beast man. Be ready to send it...”

“That is not possible sir.”

“Why?” he narrowed his eyes.

“The signal is moving more quickly than before. I can no longer pinpoint it.” Nexus' power burst, shaking the room. He snapped and began to laugh.

“It's fine, hehehe, let the games begin!”

Monster Info: Beast men : Beast men are very loyal and powerful monsters. The most common beast men breeds are dog cat, wolf, and fox. Containing beastly power and body while having a human mind, they are born skilled fighters. Beast men are very loyal to their masters, when treated with love and respect they give love and respect in return, but treat them cruelly and they will bite the hand that tries to control them. None are more loyal than the wolf beast men when they acknowledge their true master they will stay with them till death. Beast men enjoy fighting but don't care for killing they usually fight till submission, but they will kill if either they or their master's lives are in danger.

Beast Men can draw out their energy using it to fuel their claws or teeth, some capable of learning energy attacks. All Beast Men have a berserk mode, where their fur takes a darker color, they lose their human minds to a point and will attack anyone and anything around them. Berserk mode is considered a final technique as it drains away a beast man's very life force, and in this state they can attack their masters.

It is also possible for a beast man when paired with certain kinds of humans to draw on their power unleashing new techniques and combos they couldn't perform on their own.

Most Beast Men can be found in the northern kingdom, they are gladiators in the coliseum. Many come for the grand fighting and the act of submission that follows.

Bonus PDF Exclusive Content Fox vs Dog

In the kingdom to the North a grand coliseum stood. People gathered inside to watch the festivities. It was to be a grand Beastman fight.

The crowd erupted into cheers as the two fighters entered the arena. On the left was the pink fox anthro. He wore a white loin cloth and nothing else. He was tall and thin, he had fine pecs but no abs to speak of, mostly pink but he had white tipped ears and tail, and white lower paws, and his belly had white fur.

His fluffy tail swished back and forth giving the crowd glimpses of his ass, his loin cloth hugged his balls nicely. He flexed his claws as he stood across from his opponent.

To the right was a light blue dog anthro. He was more fit than the fox, light blue fur covering every inch of him, he to was completely naked except for a lion cloth which hugged his balls nicely to.

He was the clear favorite to win. “Ladies and Gentlemen we have two powerful beastmen, who are more than happy to entertain us with a fight. On the left we have Moko and on the right we have Biscuit!”

The crowd cheered as the two took their fighting stances. “We are both canine class, shall we fight the canine way.” he was in a more traditional fighting stance, claws out and stance wide.

“Of course.” Moko had his arms behind his back, his tail swishing back and forth.

“In that case...” his power flowed and he took a deep breath. “Bark Blaster!” he let loose a blast of air from his mouth.

Moko jumped out of the way with a spin. The blast hit the wall making a huge hole in it. “There it is Biscuit's Bark Blaster.” the announcer roared. “A powerful move dog beastmen use by applying energy to their mighty bark.”

“Stay still!” he launched a barrage of Bark Blasters the fox dodging every attack, with a mix of grace and power. “In that case!” Biscuit rushed forward, claws out.

“Ohh it looks like Biscuit is going for a Rend attack, but nothing is hitting thanks to the legendary grace and speed of the fox beastmen.” It was true, each swipe of his claws or kick from his legs was dodged quickly by Moko.

“You are quite strong, but without hitting me your strength doesn't matter.” he dodged and dodged, chuckling along the way.

“Shut up and let me hit you!” he thrust his paws forward and the fox dodged.

“Fox Tail Twister!” he spun round and round making a tornado. The air pressure forced Biscuit back and he quickly got smacked by the fox tail.

Whooshhhhh

Biscuit went flying back and landed in the wall. “Damn! I'm not backing down!” his fur puffed up. Growling he rushed forward.

“Looks like I'm gonna have to teach you some new tricks.” Without using his hands he began fighting back, using his tail and legs to counter the male's attacks.

Back and forth the two clashed, pushing each other back a bit before gaining the lead, only to have it fall again.

“Use your hands and fight me for real!” he threw a punch only to have it dodged.

“Nah, I'm so strong I can beat you with my hands behind my back.” Moko teased, launching a kick but Biscuit dodged.

“If you think so!” his energy burst and he increased his speed for just a moment. He tackled Moko to the ground and pinned him down with one hand on his chest, his arms trapped behind his back. “It's my win!”

With his free hand he moved it down his lithe body getting closer to his loin cloth.

The rules for the arena were simple, fight till one is unconscious, admits defeat, or submits. Fights never ended in death in the arena, the more likely outcome was...

“I'm gonna fuck you into submission.” he bellowed and the crowd cheered.

Moko smirked. “Is that so?”

Biscuit gasped as his loin cloth was yanked off by Moko's tail. “What how did you?”

“A fox beast man doesn't use their hands to fight, our fighting style consists of using our tail and feet. Our tails are strong, stronger than any limb in our body.” his tail coiled around his waist and tossed him away. He got a powerful breeze racing between his legs before he was caught and pinned to the ground. His furry ass raised high, his tight pink hole on full display.

Using his tail he locked his arms behind his back. “Hmm, so sexy.” his hands finally came into play. He felt up the dog anthro's body, said anthro shivering. “A fox's hands are meant for handling beautiful things.” Moko groped his pecs and Biscuit moaned.

His nipples peaked out of his fur, while his cock slipped from his sheath. It was human in shape, light blue with a darker blue tip. “Do you submit?”

“Nooo,” he groaned out.

Biscuit panted and moaned having his sensitive places teased. Soft pads rolling his balls, while his perky bud was pinched. The light blue dog beastman's tongue hung out of his mouth.

With each moan and groan the crowd cheered for more. Biscuit's penis began throbbing and weeping all over the floor. Moko licked the dog anthro's ear. “Mmhhmmmm!”

“You look like you are going to cum. Your hole is twitching like crazy.” he rubbed his bulge against his crack, causing a teasing friction.

“Fuuu...” he bucked back his tail wagging like crazy.

“Submit!” Moko growled, giving his ear a lick.

“Please...touch me...” his penis twitched.

“Submit,” he purred, giving the ear a little nibble.

“I...I...I...submit!”

“And there you have it Biscuit has submitted!” the announcer called.

Moko released his arms with his tail, and Biscuit moved into a proper doggy style position. He wiggled his ass, a rather sweet aroma began drifting off his body.

“Ahh the smell of submission.” he removed his own loin cloth and freed his massive 9 inch cock. His length was pink with a reddish purple tip. The smell of his arousal made Biscuit moan.

Moko spread the male's cheeks and brought his mouth to his hole. He started licking his tight pucker. “Ohh yes!” he pushed back, tail wagging as the tongue breached his hole. The hand came around and began pumping his leaking erection. “I...I...I'm cumming!”

Biscuit lost control and howled to the crowd as he came. Thick semen spilling all over the arena floor. The crowd cheered.

“I'm not done with your cute ass yet!” he raised his ass by his tail and he lined his own cock to his wet hole.

“Yessssss!” the tip began pushing at his pink pucker. His hole breached and he moaned in pleasure, his cock hardening as each inch filled his channel.

“So tight, dog beastmen have the best holes!” Moko buried himself deep into his ass. The two drooled as pleasure coursed through their veins. Their hearts raced, and the crowd got quiet.

They stilled, basking in their union. He cupped his hips, his tail coming around to tickle his length. The white tip flicked along his length tickling his manhood.

Biscuit moaned and tightened up on his length. Moko acted on this and began to move, his furry balls smacking against

Biscuits. “Ohhhh!”

The crowd erupted in cheers as he fucked his ass, hot and fast, glorious friction. Hotter and hotter, each thrust bringing the two together. Furry hips struck furry hips, their moans echoing the arena.

They brought out binoculars to get a close up. They saw the bouncing cock, whipping pre this way and that way. They watched the long fox anthro cock appear and disappear inside the plump light blue furry ass.

“I can't...I can't...cumming!!!!” Biscuit howled and came, clamping down onto the thrusting cock.

“Me to, take it all!” he gave one more thrust, ramming his prostate and hitting his climax. Hot ropes of semen pelting his sweet spot. Biscuit passed out from the pleasure, collapsing into the puddle of his own cum.

Moko pulled out and stood in all his naked glory. He raised an arm into the air and the crowd cheered. “What a show, what a glorious climax, we have a new arena champion ladies and gentlemen. Moko the Fox Beastman!”
