

Chapter 37 - Isolated.

I left the mansion and took another walk around the leisure area. Afterward, I walked to the beach and put my feet on the sand. The seawater lapped at my feet. I was surprised that the water wasn't cold.

I felt like jumping into the water, but I controlled myself.

"Okay, let's walk this way." I headed to the right and decided to take a walk around the island. It wouldn't take more than two hours for that. I wanted to see where we were and if there was anything around.

It was a pleasant walk as the strong wind was quite refreshing, and the view of the blue sea was breathtaking. The island was magnificent: coconut trees everywhere, flowering bushes, and even some tiny mountains just behind our mansion.

There were even animals.

Little rabbits, I saw mice entering into holes in the ground, and there were several bird species.

"But we seem to be isolated. Even from miles away, there is no other island. Anyway, I can use my skills to get out of here." The problem will be if anyone sees me.

The U.S. government is already after me. I don't want the Japanese government chasing me.

"I'm going back home now. I'll spend the rest of the day watching some stuff on the laptop and eating snacks I saw in the kitchen."

But I have a big problem. I didn't bring the charger for my laptop and my cell phone. Damn, am I going to have to buy a new one? I have money, but I'll need to go to some city for that.

"Edna, can't you give me my chargers?" I smiled to myself and walked to the mansion.

####

In a house in the United States, a woman appeared in an almost empty room.

"I don't need this body anymore." The woman's body fell to the floor, and from inside her body, another woman came out. It was a woman with a somewhat translucent body.

She was wearing a long white dress with a nice neckline. Her hair was blonde and long, and her eyes were golden like a gold nugget. And just as the woman was about to disappear, she was interrupted.

[Edna, that boy forgot his chargers. Go and take it to him. Take this opportunity to get rid of that house.]

"My name is not Edna. Tsk." The woman clicked her tongue and teleported to Erick's old house. After grabbing the chargers, a small golden portal opened.

She threw everything there and sighed.

"Are you sure I need to get rid of this house?"

[It doesn't have any owners, so it's no problem. We also shouldn't leave any clue that that boy was here.]

"Right." Just by snapping her fingers, the woman made the mansion disappear. The entire structure was transformed into golden magic particles that vanished into thin air. Nobody but her could see those particles.

However, other people could see that mansion disappearing. Erick's neighbor see it through his window, which terrified him. The following day he made a hasty decision to move out.

And soon after he moved out, the army arrived at the location looking for Erick, but when they got there, nothing was found. It was a search without any results. Erick was gone, and they didn't know how they would find him.

####

After arriving at my new mansion, I saw a glow in the middle of the living room. There, a small portal opened, and the chargers for my laptop and cell phone came out of the portal.

"She did that... I didn't think she was listening to me. I wonder if that woman isn't the God who gave me this system." If it is her, she doesn't have an appearance that I would expect a God to have.

But this is not the time to think about that.

"Rias! Bulma!"

Rias and Bulma came down the stairs. The two had showered, yet they were wearing the same clothes.

"Don't you two have any new clothes in the closets upstairs?" I asked.

"There aren't any," Rias said.

"Yes, there aren't any. I had to wear the same clothes...I feel dirty."

"I thought that woman got clothes for us... Since she put a bunch of food in the kitchen cabinets. I'll go after new clothes tomorrow, okay?"

"But where are you going to get new clothes in this place? If you buy it online, they won't deliver it here."

"I'll do the obvious. I'll fly to the nearest town and buy new clothes." I said to Rias.

"Have you gone crazy? You're already wanted. You can't go flying around like it's something normal for humans. And we're near Japan, aren't we? You don't understand our language... And you do not have Japanese money to use."

"Yes, you are right." The system gave me all the money in US dollars... How am I going to use it here?

[Would you like to convert your US dollars to Japanese Yen?]

[Select the amount below and click the confirm button]

"Haaaa~~ As I imagined, some more convenient thing was created to help me. Thank you for that, God." I smiled and converted 1000 dollars into Yen. It was a good amount.

Now my money was separated into two different currencies. I could choose which currency to withdraw from when I went to the ATM.

"With this, I can travel anywhere in the world, and I won't have any problems. Yes, that's good."

"What did you do?" Bulma asked curiously.

"I just got some Yen."

"Yen?"

"Yes, the currency they use in Japan."

"How?"

"That's a secret."