

DELVE: BIOMES

CREATED BY ANNA BLACKWELL

INTRODUCTION

The world opens up beneath us Overseer. A wealth of new Biomes to explore, Rooms to Build, and Units to Hire as we continue our search for the fabled Void Crystal. But be warned, with new opportunity comes new danger and there are rumours among the loremasters and miners about terrible things lurking in the shadows.

This expansion is all about Biomes which are unique areas with their own Natural Formation (♣) and Remnant (♠) tables, Artefacts, Enemies, and even gameplay mechanics.

There has been a small change to some terminology which is detailed on pg 88.

There are also many new terms that you will come across which have been detailed below for your convenience.

Term	Meaning
Climb	This Unit/ Enemy can ascend or descend sheer walls.
Ethereal	This Unit/ Enemy can pass through Barricades and can only be hurt by Magic or Ethereal Units.
Fly	This Unit/ Enemy can fly, allowing them to pass over pits.
Drain X	Gain X STR whenever this Unit/ Enemy deals damage to another. This can increase STR above their written value.
Element (X)	Immune to anything relating to their Element i.e. Fire, Ice, etc.
Living	All Units are counted as Living except for Golems, Mechanical, Ethereal, Skull Dwarves or other clearly not living units.
Poison	Any Living Unit struck by Poison loses 2 STR per Round of Combat. This effect can stack.
Slow	This Unit/ Enemy takes 2 Rounds to move 1 Square.
Swarm	This Unit/ Enemy cannot lose more than $\frac{1}{4}$ its STR per Round.

BIOMES

Biomes are discovered whenever you Draw a ♣ or ♠ Ace while Exploring outside of a Biome. This replaces the Ace results from DELVE's Natural Formations and Remnant Tables.

When you discover a Biome, you roll 1D4 to see which shape it is and outline it on your map. For example, these are the 4 shapes that the Roots Biome can be:

So if you rolled a 4 you would have the shape on the bottom left which you would outline on your map, starting with the Square with the white circle. You can then Explore it or leave it for later when you're ready.

You can rotate the shapes to better fit your map if you like but always start from the square with the white circle when determining the shape.

If a Biome has to intersect an already explored Square, adjust the shape as needed to still make sense, either via rotating from that point or ending the Biome shape early.

♥ and ♦ results still get you Resources and Trade Goods, imagine them as otherwise uneventful areas of the Biome.

Each Biome has a ♣ Natural Formations and ♠ Remnant table as well as a list of Rooms and Units that can be Built and Hired once you complete certain Requirements.

Room and Unit Requirements can be:

Discovery – You need to have found the Biome they are from first. An example would be Requires: Foul Temple Discovery

Biome Requirement – They need to be Built or Housed in their own Biome. An example would be Requires: The Roots Biome

Challenge – You need to complete a certain challenge like Defeating a Hive Queen or Returning an Artefact to a Gravesite. An example would be Requires: Ant Queen Joined

And finally, whenever you discover a Biome, Draw a second Card and check the table to see which Biome you have found!

ANT COLONY

Dwarves are not the only masters of the underground. Long before we lifted our tools, the ants had already built colonies that spanned continents and beyond. You would do well to pay them respect, Overseer.

Gameplay Effect: The lighter grey Squares are the Queen's Lair, once you reach this, follow the instructions below:

The Queen (100 STR x Lair Squares) dominates this space. If you have Defeated an Ant Colony before, they offer to join you, unlocking the various Rooms and Units for your use. Otherwise, Start Combat.

LAVA CAVERNS

Formed from the raw power of the world's core melting stone, these caverns are full of potential for dwarves industrious enough to settle them. But be warned, these caverns can change without warning and many Holds have fallen trying to tame them.

Gameplay Effect: Whenever you Draw a Joker, The lowest accessible Row in these Caverns fills with Lava. This Lava cannot be removed. Once the Biome has been completely filled, it is no longer accessible.

Whenever you Draw a Joker after a Lava Cavern has been filled, treat the Biome entry as a source for Liquid.

FOUL TEMPLE

There are some gods whose worship is so foul, so depraved that their followers are forced to hide from the watchful eyes of the divine. One of the sacred tasks of all dwarven kind is to rout out their corruption and cleanse it.

Be careful though, Overseer, other dark creatures are often emboldened by the presence of these evil places.

Gameplay Effect: Until this Biome has been fully Explored, all ♠ Enemies gain an extra 5 STR per Depth.

Once a Foul Temple Biome has been fully Explored, you may ignore the next Ancient Monstrosity you discover.

THE DARK SEA

Down below the lowest cave there flows an ocean of liquid night. A place so low that even the gods don't know what creatures call it home. A place so deep and forgotten that, had it not been for the greed of dwarves, we might have never been burdened with it.

Gameplay Effect: The lowest Square of each Column is referred to as the Ocean Floor for various Events. Digging up into the Dark Sea Biome causes it to flood everything below it that can be reached. These Squares cannot be Drained unless a Defensive Barricade is built to stop the path of the Liquid from the Dark Sea.

Instead of each Square being Explored normally, you must instead use a Submarine which is treated as a Unit. This Submarine starts any Combat in the newly Explored Square.

THE WYRD

Concentrations of the mineral wyrdite have always been a hassle for dwarves as it warps the world around it, creating things that should not exist. Some say wyrdite comes from another realm, others say it is another of the Trickster God's great pranks but all can agree that it's a nightmare to deal with. Prepare for some weirdness Overseer.

Gameplay Effect: Any time you Draw a ♦ while in this Biome, you have found some wyrdite. Turn an Adjacent non-Wyrd Biome Square into a Wyrd Biome Square.

If this transforms one of your Rooms or another Biome Square, re-imagine that Square in a weird way but retain its written purpose and effect.

ROOMS & UNITS

WYRD VAULT – 50♥

Requires: The Wyrd Discovery & 1 Artefact

Some things are too weird even for the most jaded of dwarf, when we come across such things, the answer is, invariably, to lock it away.

Move the effects of a Wyrd Biome Square to this Room. It can be activated whenever you choose but once it is activated, it cannot be stopped again.

You can only move the effects of a Wyrd Biome Square after dealing with it during the Explore phase. E.g. The upwards waterfall can only be moved after dealing with the Liquid from it.

FUTURISTIC BARRACKS – 70♦ & 20♥

Requires: Lost Marines Event (3♣)

Moving images, talking ghosts, self-pumping water and other marvels surround these futuristic men and women with their light throwing weapons!

This Room can House 10 Marines.

Unit	Cost	STR	Power
Marine	20♦	8	Ranged 2. Element (Fire & Ice)

CHANCE HALL – 50♥

Requires: The Wyrd Biome

Probability goes very strange in The Wyrd. Something the most devout gamblers and curious of researchers share equal interest in.

When you Build this Room, Draw a Card and make note of it. You can then substitute that Card in for any other Card Draw.

Once you have used up that Card, you can pay 20♦ to Draw and note another.

WYRD ROOM – Same Cost as Room Chosen

Requires: The Wyrd Discovery

Genius is one step away from madness, at least so they say. Maybe this weird room will be useful? Maybe the strange creatures that live in there will be friendly? I don't know.

Choose a Room and place a Wyrd version of it here.

You may choose what makes it Wyrd or Draw on the Table below.

You may Hire and House Wyrd versions of other Units in this Room.

This is a purely aesthetic choice and does not impact any game mechanics.

A	Made of sweets and biscuits	8	Chibi anime style
2	Way too high tech	9	Fractal geometry
3	Like a Salvador Dali painting	10	Cartoon
4	1990's Office aesthetic	Jack	Indecipherable weirdness

10	The last Room you built is duplicated here, including any Units currently Housed in it. You have control over both.
Jack	A solitary table with something on it sits alone in this cavern. ♣ Enemies will not enter this Square if there is another route for them.
Queen	This Square seems to be a supply closet for somewhere that doesn't exist. Chairs, boxes, gymnastic equipment, ladders, and other weird things have been found here. You may treat this as a Storeroom (DELVE, pg 14).
King	A piece of 21 st Century Human technology has been put into a sort of shrine here. What is it? If you take it, how does your Hold use it?
Red Joker	Oh no! Another Biome was attached here. Draw a Card to see which Biome, it is now a Wyrld version of that Biome so treat it as you usually would but get weird and creative with your interpretations of the Events. i.e. Lawyers instead of ants in the Colony or ice cream instead of ice in the Glacial Abyss.

THE UNDERWORLD

A vast realm populated by all the departed souls of the worlds above. Strikingly beautiful yet frightening, The Underworld is a place of stark contrasts. The God of the Dead rules over this Biome but the living may find the land itself more of a threat than its denizens.

Draw a Card for anyone who gets Defeated:

SPECIAL MECHANICS

New Terminology

Instead of Grid Spaces, Rooms and Events now occupy Squares.

Ranged now has a number after it to signify how many Squares that Unit or Enemy can shoot – Most DELVE Units and Enemies with Ranged have Ranged 2 unless otherwise stated.

Shield is now followed by a number – i.e. Shield 10 – to make tracking it easier and to serve as an elegant way to make some Enemies tougher but not stronger. Units and Enemies with Shield take any incoming damage before others.

Sabretooth Squirrel

If your Hold gets broken in two, my advice is to cut your Hold page in two and tape the cut Hold to another piece of paper in order to add this extra Column in.

If this is too much effort, you can ignore this mechanic and instead pay 200♥ to simulate the cost of repairs.

If you cannot afford this, treat all the Rooms in the column above this Squirrel as Damaged.

Burning Armour Monstrosity

This Ancient Monstrosity from the original DELVE counts as Element (Fire) for the sake of any Events that affect it.

Metal Weapons

DELVE gives you a lot of freedom to determine how you equip your Units but doesn't make a mechanical differentiation between a metal longsword and a bone club. Try and think fairly when dealing with this Event.

♣ Creatures are very unlikely to wield a metal weapon whereas Dwarves are likely all carrying metal weapons of some kind.

Cannons that enter the metal eating insect Square can either be considered damaged and must return to their Unit Room like any other Unit OR you could be cruel and decide that this Event destroys any Cannons that enter.

Water Meets Lava

If water ever enters a Square containing lava, it solidifies, stopping the Flood and removing any lava based danger from that Square. Usually this will result in an Empty Cavern Square.

CHALLENGES

Continuing on the spirit of the original DELVE, I have included a number of Biome specific challenges for you to undertake. Think of these like achievements like those found in most video games.

ITS GETTING WYRD – Have an entire Row made up of Wyrld Rooms and Wyrld Biome Squares.

MOTHER KNOWS BEST – Bring the All-Mother a Void Crystal.

THE GOLDEN CHILD – Gain the Favour of 3 Gods in a single Hold.

42 – Provide power to The Thinking Machine and ask it a question.

THIS IS MY BOOMSTICK – Defeat an Ancient Monstrosity with the legendary Dwarven Artillery piece.

TREE HUGGER – In a single Hold, complete both a Roots Biome and Buried Jungle Biome without building a Lumbermill.

PULL THE PLUG – Cause a Liquid Event that Floods 50 Squares.

CAREFUL ITS A RENTAL! – Explore an entire Dark Seas Biome with a single Submarine.

FIRE IN THE FRIDGE – Have a Lava Cavern Biome Flood into a Glacial Abyss Biome

NUTS TO ALL OF YA! – Have all of your Units turned into Squirrels and still find the Void Crystal.

FACING THE PAST – Face the Underworld Black Joker Event and win.

CONSPIRATOR – Let a Rising Dungeon Biome convert 30 Squares

CAT PERSON – Defeat the Three Headed Dog with a Sabretooth or other Cat Unit.

OUCH – Have a Unit with more than 150 STR Defeated by the Reaper.

EXPLORER EXTRAORDINAIRE –
Discover every Biome. Can be done across multiple Holds.
