Today we're gonna sit down with a bunch of members from The Command Zone team to talk about the cards we loved from this year. Wizards released more new cards than ever before. So much so that it can be hard to keep track of it all. Going through these discussions with our team, it was remarkable how often I went "Oh yeah! I totally forgot about that card!". Plus, we don't get a ton of opportunity to go back after our initial set review evaluations and see how good a card actually performs in practice. There's often a big difference between how a card looks and how it plays. BUT FIRST:
