

Where are the Villagers?

A fun dungeon by Derek Ruiz

Two giant zombies guard this room. They can be appeased with icecream.

Storage room, Mr. Fuzz' wine collection is here.

6 skeleton bards are here, they can sing and play the lute.

Empty secret room.

Empty Room.

Mr Fuzz. Office, there are two undead cats hiding in the drawers.

The village of Raventown was recently visited by a hated merchant wizard. Mr. Fuzz is what the fuzz is all about. In the past he has been accused of using his magic on townsfolk for his own ends, He's been to jail several times. But now after a two days visit he left. However 19 villagers disappeared with him. The townsfolk are sure Mr. Fuzz used his magic to kidnap them, and now the bounty for Mr. Fuzz' head is bigger than his reputation.

They say Mr. Fuzz took them to his underground lair a few miles to the east.

Mr. Fuzz' family crypts, the grandpas always come out to help their beloved grandson when he's in need. They love the taste of human flesh... and licorice.

Secret room keeps grandpa's secret licorice stash. Plus a box of grandma's jewelry.

Mr. Fuzz is here, performing a ritual that will transform the villagers into belly dancing zombies (regular zombies don't belly dance). His zombies throw oil filled ballons and he attacks with fire spells. BURN!

Mr. Fuzz' bipolar disorder medicine is here. Turns out he was a victim too. Now say that to his dead body. Plus there's lots of gold.

The villagers ! no wait these are other villagers. hmmm Mr. Fuzz is attacking other towns too.

Magic fountain, summons two water elementals. If defeated, a key can be found in the pool's bottom.

Family portraits.

Entrance to Mr. Fuzz' lair.

There's a family tree painted in this room. It includes cats.

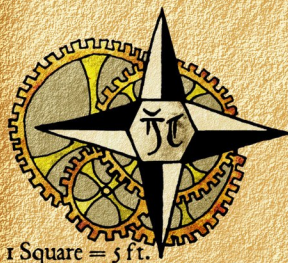

Locked doors, you need the key hidden in the fountain.

Empty Closet

Secret room with a trapped chest. Whoever opens it is teleported to a distant land. The locals call the place Honolulu, which is draconic for beach resort.

A group of paid mercenaries guards this room. They fight fiercely. Except Bluto who's pay is delayed, he might even join the adventurers

This closet contains clothes for created zombies.

1 Square = 5 ft.