

The Cursed Item Scroll

1d8 cursed trinkets, 1d4 hexed weapons, and 1d6 bedeviled idols

Cursed Trinkets

Things are never as innocent as they appear.

1. {Mute Horn} Sends out a concussive blast that only you can hear. Is powerful enough to send enemies tumbling backwards but deafens you in the process.
2. {Book of Confession} Compels you to fill its pages with confessions of your greatest sins and crimes. Has a knack for ending up in the the hands of those you'd never want reading what you wrote.
3. {Basilisk Ring} Bites you once you put it on and slowly turns you to stone unless drenched in basilisk blood within 10 days.
4. {Drunkard's Stein} Once you drink from it, you just can't stop. While in your drunken stupor, any attempts to help sober you up are a personal attack on your life.
5. {Crow's Patch} An eye patch made from a crow's foot and feathers. You can see through it just fine, but it plucks your eye out if you ever take it off.
6. {Etiquette's Kettle} Brews exceptionally delicious tea that becomes lethal to any who drink it if you ever fail to fill your guests' tea cups before filling your own.

7. {Usurper's Crown} Humble yet beautiful, it encourages you to "remove" any that might get in the way of your new found interest in holding political office.
8. {Dread Scope} Hostile creatures you look at through this telescope instantly appear in front of you when you lower it.

Edged Sidearms

Soaked in a hag's cauldron.

1. {Dreadroot Sword} Plants blighted seeds in the guts of every creature it pierces.
2. {Broom Spear} When poorly thrown, it returns to your hand at a dangerous speed.
3. {Barbed Bow} One of these days, its jagged wire bow string might just snag your eye.
4. {Butcher's Axe} Wouldn't you just love to hack up any dead bodies you come across?

Wedge-tailed Tools

Touched by the very powers of hell.

1. {Imp Belt} Makes you immune to poison damage, but wear it long enough, and you'll become an imp in service to a devil.
2. {Fiend's Skull} The fires burning in its eye sockets make for a nifty lantern. The trapped fiend within it sees and can speak to all that its light shines upon.
3. {Notary Quill} Can forge anything you wish. Signs documents in your name that you have no recollection of signing.
4. {Astounding Flute} Amazes any crowd its played for. Somebody in the crowd will kill if it means they can hear it played again... and again... and again.
5. {Frostbitten Boot} Crushed an ice devil's skull under its spikes. Now traverses ice with ease but freezes its wearer's feet in place at the worst possible time.
6. {Putrid Mask} Spews toxic fumes from its vents that rots the flesh of nearby creatures. Oxygen is poison to your lungs while the mask is not being worn.